Don't wait for dirt to show

Rethink carpet maintenance

We clean hard floors regularly to keep them looking good. But with carpets, we often wait until dirt becomes visible.

The problem? Carpets hide dirt deep within their fibers, beyond the reach of regular vacuuming. Over time, they lose their fresh appearance and need intensive cleaning. Heavy equipment, lots of water and long drying times make this far from practical for regular maintenance.

A carpet is a major investment. Replacing it costs money and creates waste. So why replace it sooner than necessary?

We've got a soft spot for innovation

Meet the i-carpet 46

Inspired by the agility of the i-mop, the i-carpet 46 makes regular carpet maintenance easier. It combines low-moisture encapsulation cleaning with powerful mechanical action to loosen dirt from carpet fibers.

Regular maintenance with the i-carpet 46 helps keep carpets in good condition for longer, reducing the need for intensive cleaning and early replacement.

There's more than meets the eye

Why carpets need a different approach

Hard floors are horizontal

Carpets fibers are vertical

On hard floors, dirt mainly stays on the surface, making it relatively easy to remove.

Carpets are different. Their upright fibers create spaces where dust, soil and fine particles can settle. Some dirt remains loose and can be removed by vacuuming. Other dirt becomes trapped between the fibers or sticks to them. That is why vacuuming alone is not always enough.

A smarter approach to carpet care

Regular vacuuming remains essential. But adding low-moisture encapsulation maintenance to your routine helps loosen dirt that vacuuming cannot easily remove.

The result? A more complete maintenance routine that helps carpets stay cleaner-looking for longer.

Let's get to the bottom of it

How low-moisture encapsulation works

Dirt is trapped between the fibers or sticks to them.

The i-carpet 46 sprays the i.61 Carpet Cleaner on the dirty carpet

The counter-rotating SuperZorb pads work the solution into the carpet fibers, helping to release embedded dirt while absorbing some of the moisture and loosened soil.

As the cleaning solution dries, it binds remaining loosened dirt into small particles that can be removed from the carpet.

Once the carpet is dry, vacuuming removes the dry particles.

There's plenty to love

Why choose the i-carpet 46?

Fast carpet maintenance.

Treat 100 m² of carpet in approximately 8 minutes with the i-carpet 46, compared to 16 minutes with the Orbot Slim and 30–40 minutes with traditional carpet extraction machines. Low-moisture cleaning means carpets dry in approximately 15 minutes, compared with 24 hours after traditional wet extraction.*

Designed around the cleaner.

Inspired by i-mop technology, the agile design and i-balance system make the machine easy to manoeuvre. Work comfortably in an upright position, with a clear view of both the carpet and your surroundings.

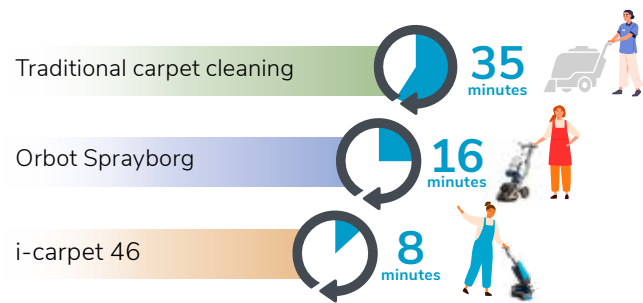

Two jobs. One machine.

Treat stubborn stains with the integrated spray function, then clean the full carpet area. No need to switch to another machine for regular maintenance.

See more. Clean better.

Integrated LED lighting makes dirt on the carpet easier to see, even in poorly lit areas.

Carpet treatment time per 100 m²*

*Indicative treatment times only. Drying and subsequent vacuuming are not included. Actual results depend on carpet type and operating conditions.

The i-team difference

Different tools, one team

Complete carpet care

The i-carpet 46 is part of the i-team ecosystem, where machines, cleaning solutions and accessories work together for smarter carpet maintenance. With two separate tanks, it combines targeted stain treatment and regular carpet maintenance in one machine. Each function uses a dedicated i-hygienic liquid and pad type.

i.60 Carpet Spot Spray + PolyPlus pads

For targeted stain treatment using the integrated spray function.

i.61 Carpet Cleaner + SuperZorb pads

For regular low-moisture maintenance. The counter-rotating pads work the cleaning solution into the carpet fibers, helping to loosen embedded dirt and absorb moisture. i.61 also helps neutralize unpleasant odors at the source.

Co-botic 1700 / 1900 & i-walk

For automated vacuuming before and after maintenance. The i-walk can also support the i-carpet 46 when cleaning larger areas.
